Why make the move to electronic access control?

When it comes to your senior or assisted living property, safety and security are top priorities. Not only do you want your residents to be safe, but you want their families to have peace of mind as well. That's why Yale offers a comprehensive suite of solutions that are specifically designed with senior living communities in mind.

- ▶ INCREASE SECURITY & REDUCE LIABILITY

- ▶ ENABLE QUICK MANAGEMENT OF ACCESS RIGHTS

- ▶ EASILY ADAPT AS SECURITY NEEDS CHANGE OVER TIME

What are the advantages for my senior living facility?

There are a number of issues that come with traditional access control. Keys can get lost and access rights are difficult to manage. To help you avoid these problems, Yale offers systems that will enhance your security and offer seamless integration for your staff—all at a minimal cost to you.

Safety & Ease of Use for Your Residents

- ▶ SEAMLESS EXPERIENCE
Motorized deadbolt retraction opens the lock for residents automatically after a card or fob is presented. One card or fob is capable of opening every door.

- ▶ ACCOUNTABILITY WITH AUDIT TRAILS
Know who accessed which door and when with complete audit trail information stored in the cloud.

- ▶ ENHANCED SAFETY & SECURITY
Yale hardware works with other solutions that enable delayed egress, preventing resident elopement.

How does electronic access control benefit my managers & staff?

With electronic access control, you can eliminate costly key management, grant emergency access with one-time PIN codes and increase accountability with access audit trails. Yale's credentials are designed to meet or exceed HIPAA standards.
